

Brunello di Montalcino 2010

Col d'Orcia, Brunello di Montalcino, 2010, Tuscany, Italy Still a baby in Montalcino terms, the juicy red fruits are there alongside high tannins, good spices and a long finish. 'Lovely style, with fresh tomato and notes of savoury plum fruit and an appealingly rustic character. Easy to drink, and a good style,' said team leader Simon Woods. 'Wood and tannin need time to integrate,' advised Gareth Ferreira of Launceston Place.
