

Poggio al Vento Brunello di Montalcino Riserva DOCG 2008

93^{pts}

Wine Spectator

This is settling into a nice rhythm, boasting fading cherry and strawberry fruit, with leather, tobacco and underbrush flavors. Still on the lean, firm side, but the tannins are slowly being absorbed. This could still use a few years of additional aging. Best from 2017 through 2030. 700 cases made. June 2016
